The faith community is a powerful voice for change. As a spiritual leader, you are in a pivotal role to make a difference in how we talk about dying in America. Lead your congregation by joining with Vidant Health in a national initiative, Conversation Sabbath, to preach or teach about the importance of having meaningful conversations about what matters most when facing the end of life. Let your voice be heard.

Pick a time to teach or preach on the value of having meaningful conversations regarding values and future health care decisions. Together, let's transform how we talk about death and dying.

Start by registering with Vicki Dougherty with Vidant Health: 252-341-3986. She'll provide you with a free toolkit with everything you need.
