Advance Care Planning

Your Wishes, Your Way

Talking to your loved ones about your personal values and what matters most to you at the end of life can be hard. Yet, having the conversation now, while you are well and not in a crisis, will help ensure that those you love will know and can honor your wishes.

By attending an educational overview, you will learn what you can do now to make sure that your loved ones are well prepared to know your wishes so they can make sure that you are being treated your way. Legal, health care and faith perspectives will be discussed to help you with planning.

During the clinic sessions, certified facilitators, NOTARY and witnesses will be available at no charge to assist you with completion of your Health Care Power of Attorney and Living Will documents.

Other educational sessions:

Hello Game - Begin meaningful conversations with your family and friends through this experiential game activity. In small group settings, learn more about what matters most to you!

Book Reviews- There are numerous books available for your group to read and discuss that will generate wonderful discussions regarding both your wishes for care and how to have more open conversations with your family and loved ones. Let us help you lead the discussion at your next Book Club meeting.

Film Reviews- New films and documentaries are constantly becoming available that generate more open conversations regarding our ability, and responsibility, to honor patient choices, especially at the end of life. Let's watch the movie together, and then have a discussion surrounding the effects of the presentation.
